

Dear friends,
Remembering our roots!

If you remember what day was the 15th August, 66 years ago, you would appreciate watching the 7 movies given below.

This is excellent footage and archival material on the invasion of China by the Japanese. The following series of 7 videos show how our ancestors fought back the invaders despite overwhelming odds and unspeakable atrocities committed, particularly in Nanking in 1937. Now we know why China has to be what she is today, for never again will she suffer humiliation from foreign invaders. China has come of age, reminiscent of days of old, with a culture that goes back four thousand years. How true: "China may be invaded but never, never conquered".

BATTLE OF CHINA

World War II Films about China - Produced by US Government

A very good history lesson. Worth viewing the whole 7 segments.

Every Chinese should watch this wonderful series of documentary films, to really learn about China and the true history.

The amazing adversities and abilities of our ancestors can inspire us to take it easy with any difficulties we may have in our life and become a winner.

The film is in English with very good CHINESE subtitles. Now go to:
